“ I remember when I first met her, she was like a breath of fresh air. We became very close and it didn't take me long to bestow the title of mother to her from me. I found her insight very refreshing and inspiring for me. She taught me the value of loving someone beyond myself and loving them beyond what you see and hear about them. She is a queen beyond measure. She would do anything for anybody if it was within her reach. Always supportive and she taught how to pray and worship God in all that I do. She told me to never stop using the gift God has given me. She was always writing songs and she was very instrumental with singing for the Lord. She would start singing no matter where we were at and she showed me to never be ashamed of what God has blessed you with. We will miss you and we know that you are resting in the arms of the Lord with your friends, Mary Richardson, Mary Dudley, her son and grandson and husband and many others that are with in that city of Gold.

MR

I met her one time in the passing of my dad. She was his second wife, my mom was the first. That was also when i met my sister tamm for the first time. She invited myself, my husband, my son and his wife into her home. She made me fill so loved as if she knew me for years. She offered us food and she showed me pictures in her album book of my siblings which showed me that my dad must have been talking about us to her. She was warm spirited. She drove me around in her car and we talked as if we knew each other for years. At my dad funeral she sung and i thought it was coming from a radio then i looked around and saw her singing and said what a beautiful voice she has. It was then that i found out that she made cd's and promise to send me a copy one day. She felt like my mom and i was hoping that i got to see her again. I send my condolences to the family. May she rest in the loving arms of the lord until we meet again. She will be missed.
